A NIGHT OF STORM.

The night shuts down with falling rain.
That drapes the world in double pall;
The loud blasts batter with the pane,
And fierce and far the breakers call.

Down the long room, grown weird and grim,
Strange shadows hover, wavering;
I move among the follos dim,
And count the hours till I am free.

Free—and for what? Ah me! for whose
Soft voice, and gentle touch and smile,
The day's dull burden to unloose,
And lull my cares—a little while?

Free, to recross the threshold dark
Of the four walls I name my home;
To change of toil; then, sleepless, mark
The long, slow hours till dawn shall come.

By loving presences made sweet
In other homes on nights like these,
What matters how the storm may beat!
What wild winds lash the quivering trees!

For them the firelight's ruddy bloom,
The laugh, the dear caress:
For me the labor and the gloom,
The silence, and the loneliness.

O my young friend—unfailing, sure,
Through life's young years! how far indeedd
The way, the barriers, how secure
That hold thee from my earnest need!

From this day thy dear abiding place
What undreamed mysteries divide—
Else love, supreme o'er death and space,
Would bring thee, helpful, to my side.

Away vain thoughts! Ye do but take
The strength I crave for daily tasks;
And this (what though the heart should break!)
Is all that now my spirit asks.

The manna of a kindly word
By chance may feed me, now and then;
At times Faith's silent chords be stirred
By note of robin or of wren;

Upon some flower-face, lifted mute
The rose beside, my eyes may read,
Sweeter than voice of bird or lute,
A message fitting to my need:

Or, haply nearer than I see,
Than this a darker threshold passed,
An opening door may welcome me
To home, to light and love, at last.

INA D. COOLBRITH in March Californian.

Hindoo Women of Calcutta.

The women of Calcutta are, as a rule, very beautiful, in so far as we can reconcile beauty with the olive complexion, but fade rapidly after reaching the age of maturity. It is not infrequently that we see women at the age of 25, with furrowed jowl and crow's feet visibly encroaching the corners of her large lustrous black eyes, and at the age of 30 many have a decided stoop and a decrepit gait. This early decline is due to two causes: The very early and tender age at which nuptuals are performed, and the destructive influences of the climate. Barring that relic of barbarism, the nose-ring, there is no creature more comely, more lovely than a "Mem Sahib" of Bengal, between the ages of 12 and 18. Cleanliness is their constant care, which is a virtue to begin with.

A figure somewhat below the medium height, and unhampered by corset or weighty shirt, arrayed in a loose, flowing robe of white, the upper portion of which is thrown carelessly over the left shoulder, exposing to view the swelling bust and well-rounded arm. The upper portion of the body is encased in a sleeveless jacket, generally of some brilliant color, and tastefully worked with silk or gold and silver thread. The arm is bare from shoulder to wrist, save a goodly portion of the wrist, which is encircled by many bands of either silver or gold. The lower part of the ample robe is drawn tightly over the hips and looped at the left side, much after the manner of the entrance to a circus tent, defining boldly the contour of a faultless figure.

These ladies, in the matter of stockings, are not desultory, as they wear no shoes, and consequently no stockings, and little of the ankle is visible between the borders of their robe and the curious little mirrored toe rings and resonant ankles. The luxuriant black tresses are parted at the fore head and combed in thick folds behind the ears, which are pierced in many places, and studded thickly with jewelry, and fall in close braids over the shoulders. No ornaments are worn in the hair. Their features are regular and delicately chiselled, but too often the nose is disfigured by pearls and the wire-like ring of gold that hangs from the nostril. The large and tenderly expressive eye; the handsome mouth, when wreathed in smiles, exposes a double row of perfect teeth.

Uncle Mose turns over a new leaf—A neighbor with a coffee cup in her hand, called in on Uncle Mose yesterday, remarking: "Uncle Mose I wants to borry a cup of parched coffee from you for breakfas' till to-morror." "Go right to de box on de shef and help yerself." The neighbor did as requested, but discovered the box to be as empty as the head of a legislator.—"Uncle Mose, dar's no parched coffee in dis heah box?" "Does yer know why dar ain't no coffee in dat ar box?" "No, I dosn't know nuffin' about it." "Dar ain't no coffee in dat ar box," said the old man solemnly, "bekase dat am de returned coffee-box. Ef yer had brung back all de coffee yer borrowed last year hit would be plum full."—Galveston News.

One of the smallest locomotives ever made in Paterson, N. J., was shipped recently from the Rogers Works. It is about three feet guage, and tender and all found room on one "gondola." It is for a mountain railroad in Cuba.

Every character is the joint product of Nature and Nurture.

THUMBS.

[Baltimore Every Saturday.]

If anybody will look at the end of his thumb, he will find that the surface is ringed with little thread-like ranges of hills, wound round and round in tiny spirals. If he will take a magnifying glass and examine them closely, he will find that there is a good deal of individuality in the way which these are arranged. No two thumbs in all the world are exactly alike. The miniature mountain ranges are as fixed and decided as the Alps or the Sierras, the geography of the thumb as unmistakable. Now the Chinese have made use of this fact for establishing a rogues' gallery. Whenever a criminal is examined by the law an impression is made of his thumb. Smeared with lamp-black, partially wiped and then pressed down on a piece of white paper, an engraving of the thumb is made and kept in the police records. It serves just the same purpose which is served by our photographing our burglars and pickpockets. The accused can be identified with great certainty. Nothing short of mutilating or burning the thumb can obliterate its features. Sometimes a ghastly proof of guilt is furnished; a murderer, red handed with his crime, may touch his finger's end upon a white wall, and so leave in the color of his guilt a photograph on the accusing wall. His signature is left just as unmistakably as if he had signed the bond of his iniquity, and thus great crimes have been brought to light, and deeds of blood made to tell their own story.

By this individuality in the skin of the tip of the thumb, strongly marked as it is, yet admits a strong family likeness. Brothers and sisters who will take impressions of their thumbs will find resemblances among each other that they will not find when comparing with the thumbs of strangers. Even thus minutely does that strange thing, family likeness, descend. What wonder is it faces look alike, voices sound alike; how can it seem strange that members of the same family should have similarities of tember, of mental aptitudes and hereditary diseases, when such minor peculiarities as the texture at the end of the thumb, and its ranges of hills, should also have family resemblance in the midst of their indefinite diversities. "The hairs of our head are all numbered," and not only so, but each hair, if examined by a powerful magnifyins glass shows peculiarities as strong as the trees in the forest. No two are exactly alike. Everything, from the smallest to the greatest, is impressed with a scientific character and individuality.—The Creator's invention is exhaustless, and He no more repeats Himself in the geography of a thumb than in the geography of a continent. Now if anybody doubts this, let him take a little black, or analine color, and try it. He will acquire an acquaintance with his thumb and a respect for it that will be quite interesting.

In 1860, after the election of Mr. Lincoln, Chief Justice Taney was very ill—so ill, indeed, that his life was scarcely hoped for. There was at that time some noble old Republicans in Congress—Seward, Chase, Sumner, Ben Wade, Fessenden, Thad Stevens, and I can't remember how many more. The Republican administration would come in in March, 1861. If Taney should have died before that time Buchanan would have appointed a young Democrat, who would probably last for 40 years. If Taney should not die till after March, then Lincoln would have the appointment, and he would have selected a Republican. So these old Republicans, for the first time in their lives, were solicitous about the health of the old Chief Justice. They asked daily about him, and had all the religious people pray that his life might be spared. Even Wade, Zack Chandler and Thad Stevens prayed. Probably they did it; at any rate, Taney got well and was alive on the 4th of March. He was also alive on the succeeding 4th of March, and still alive March 4, 1863.—Then the old stalwarts began to get alarmed lest Taney, who was within a year or two of 90 years old, would outlive Mr. Lincoln's term. Ben Wade said that at a meeting of some of the old Republicans named above late in 1863, the subject of praying for Taney came up, when Chandler, slapping Wade's back, said: "Well, boys, I'm damned if I don't think we overdid it!" Chief Justice Taney lived until October, 1864, and died just in time to enable Mr. Lincoln to put Judge Chase in his place, and thus got him out of his way for the second term for the Presidency.—Washington Letter.

Few brighter and quicker replies have ever been made than that of the resident of Louisiana who was talking with a "visiting statesman" four years ago. The latter was endeavoring to establish the respectability of the members famous Returning Board.

"Now, take that man; he is surely a respectable man. Is he not a planter?"

"Well, you may call him a planter, but the things he plants don't come up. He is an undertaker."

All inequality is an evil, because it is a mean of injustice.

As the means of existence are multiplied, civilized people become more numerous.

Poetry is the language of Freedom.

Laugh off His Wrath.

A writer in the Syracuse Herald mentions an amusing instance in the career of Mrs. Lydia Maria Child, which she used to narrate with great enjoyment in her gleeful moments. She was presiding at an anti-slavery meeting where a number of the speakers had inveighed against the apathy manifested by the churches towards the cause of human freedom.

After a time a gentleman in a white neckcloth and a face glowing with the excitement of indignation, arose and asked if that was an occasion where free speech was to be permitted.

"Of course it is," said Mrs. Child; "free speech is just what we demand for ourselves and want others to enjoy. If you have anything to say, come up here on the platform and say it in welcome."

The invitation was accepted, and the gentleman, after one or two vain efforts to choke down his rising wrath and assume an appearance of calmness, remarked:

"I am an Orthodox minister of the gospel. I came this afternoon to hear some of the eloquence and wit which I understood was so abundant at these meetings; but, instead of that, I have thus far listened to little, save insults heeped upon the clergy. It is the first time I ever thrust my presence upon you; it will be the last. I can find a better use of my leisure hours than attendance upon gatherings where the only speakers are women and jack-asses!"

He paused. There was a dead silence for a moment through the hall. Then an negress, black as the ace of spades, slowly rose from one of the rear seats and addressed the chair.

"De ge'l'men tells us he's a minister of de gospel," she said, "and so he prob'ly knows what's in de Scripters. Dere was annuder minister, long time ago, named Balsam. He got mighty mad, too, at an ass that spoke. But Missus Chairman, I'd like to remind de gen'l'man dat it was de ass, and not de minister, wot seed de angel."

It is almost needless to say that the meeting suffered no further interruption that afternoon. Pleasanter still is it to add that the clergyman joined in the laugh which followed his rebuke, and stayed the session out.

DEVIL'S BLESSING.—A gentleman in a town near Boston invited home to dinner a deacon of church he attended. The guest offered a blessing at the table, which greatly excited the curiosity of the host's five-year old boy, who sat beside the deacon and interviewed him on the subject.

"What was it you said?"

"It was a blessing."

"A blessing for the food we are about to eat. Don't your father ask them?"

"Oh, yes, but not that way."

"How does he say it?"

"Why, he sits and looks at the table and says: "Oh, the devil! Is this all you've got for dinner!"

Was there ever a better example of the witty and concise form of expression common to the real Western American than the answer of the grim man of the Sierras who, when asked about the character of a neighbor, sententiously replied: "Mister, I don't know very much about him, but my impression is that he'd make a first-class stranger."

It was in the smoking-room of an Atlantic steamer that a worthy Teuton was recently talking about weather forecasts.

"Look here," said he, "I dells you vat it is. You petter don't take no shtock in dem weather predictions. Dose peoples don't knows noting. Dey can't dell no petter as I can."

"But, my dear sir," said a gentleman, "they foretold the storm which we have just encountered."

"Vell, dat ish so," said the Teuton, contemplatively; "but I dell you vat it is. Dat shtorm would have come yust de same if it had not peen predicted."

If there be one thing upon this earth that mankind love and admire better than another, it is a brave man—it is a man who dares to look the Devil in the face and tell him he is a devil.

"Boss," said a worthy negro whitewasher, "I'll hab to charge you just as much for dat ceiling as for de odder. It ain't quite so excited, boss, but it's dreffal exaggerated."

ELECTION LAW.—The Harrison bill which has passed the Assembly is as follows:

Sec. i. Section 4,160 of the Political Code is amended to read as follows: All elective county, city and county, and township officers, except Superior Court Judges Superintendents of School and Assessors, shall be elected at the general election to be held in the year 1882, and at the general election to be held every second year thereafter, and shall take office on the first Monday of March next succeding their election, and shall hold office for two years. The years that said officers are to hold office are to be computed respectively from and including the first Monday of March of any one year to and excluding the first Monday of March of the next succeeding year: provided that all Supervisors and Justices of the Peace shall take office on the first Monday after the first day of January next succeeding their election, and shall hold office for two years. The years during which Supervisors and Justices of the Peace are to hold office are to be computed respectively from and including the first Monday of January of any one year, to and excluding the first Monday of January next succeeding.

Sec. 2. Assessors of every county, and of every city and county, shall be elected at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1882, and at the general election to be held every four years thereafter, and shall hold office from and after the first Monday of March next succeeding their election.

The Union Pacific earnings increased $112,000 the first fortnight in February, and it is again rumored that the Company will tender the Government the whole sum of its indebtedness, the necessary funds to be obtained by mortgage bonds issued at 4½ or 5¼ per cent on the property of the road, which is valued at $40,000,000. We think we see the U. P. and C. P. paying their indebtedness to Uncle Sam.

The Visalia Delta is informed that J. B. Haggin will positively offer his lands for sale, and is making all preparations for the consummation of this object. We hope he will do so, and that other large land owners will do likewise. Give our people an opportunity to procure small farms, and our State would soon be one of the most flourishing in the Union.

The Nevada Legislature has appropriated $80,000 for the erection of an Insane Asylum at Reno. The buildings are to be of brick or stone on State lands, and are to be completed within six months after the building contract is made.

The Boston Herald advises the State authorities of Massachusetts to sell the Hoosac tunnel and the railroad. The two cost about $20,000,000, but the Herald thinks it would be a good bargain if they would bring $8,000,000.

It is pretty well settled that George C. Gorham will be elected Secretary of the Senate, whatever may be the result of the entire organization of that body, as Senator Mahone, his personal friend, will vote for him.

Los Angeles papers are speaking of a project on foot to establish a narrow-guage railroad from that city to San Francisco by way of Santa Monica, San Luis Obispo and other coast towns.

A FAITHFUL SERVANT.

While the loud curses of the dear people are being showered upon the members of the Legislature, and deservedly so, in a great measure, the people of Mono and Inyo counties have no reasons for not giving their Assemblyman—Hon. Joseph Wasson, his full meed for his work in the Assembly. Last Winter he was the father of the Mining Bureau Act, one of the most important measures passed at that session of the Legislature, and one that has already been of incalculable benefit to the mining interests of California. This Winter he has again been working hard for the interests of his immediate constituency, as well as of the people of the State at large. He has introduced no bills of a frivolous character to take the attention of the Assembly, but the Acts he has fathered have been of great merit, and his energy has pushed them through the Assembly. Among his bills is one to establish a State Hospital in San Francisco for disabled and indigent miners. It should become a law, as hardly a day passes that some poor miner is not injured, and it is too often the case that they are thus injured while in indigent circumstances and thus become a charge upon friends who may not be in any better circumstances, and unable to do as much as would be required. The Assembly also passed Mr. Wasson's bill to transfer the cabinets of minerals in the State Library and State University, to the Mining Bureau in San Francisco. The S. F. Bulletin recently complimented Mr. Wasson by saying that he had introduced some of the most important measures of the session, and was, with all, one of the most valuable members of the Legislature. He is an indefatigable worker, but does not take up the time of the Assembly in debate merely to hear himself talk, as nine-tenths of the members do. He works quietly and to a purpose, and when his bills come up, all are prepared to vote, and they generally vote right. We were strenuous in our advocacy of his nomination by the Republicans, and his reelection last Fall, feeling that this Assembly District could not do better, and we have no reasons for regreting our course, and to-day we believe that the best interests of our people will be best subserved by returning him—if he will accept a re-election. He has been a faithful servant of the people.

THE BOERS.

It is generally supposed that the Boers are black, and a wild tribe, but such is not the case, and their struggle with England should enlist the sympathy of Americans, as it has that of Europe. They are a Dutch colony which sought the protection of the English, but, being able to care for themselves, wish the restoration of their country. This England refuses; hence the appeal to arms—War of Independence.

We find an interesting account of this people in Harper's Weekly, from which we collate: The Boers are essentially honest. All travelers describe them as decent, comfortable, frank, hospitable, and courteous people. There is nothing slovenly, harsh and unbecoming about them; their houses are scrupulously clean, beds are good, and silver spoons abound. They are energetic, phlegmatic, moral and industrious. The men are tall, and of Herculean strength; the women have a kind of majestic beauty. The families are large. They have large farms, barns, sheds, and wagons; gardens containing vegetables; orchards of peach, apricot, oranges, lemons, figs, olives, almonds, apples and pears. He has generally but one book—a large, clasped Bible, with the births, marriages and deaths of the family for half a dozen generations. When a son or daughter marries, a house is built for the new family. Thus the Transvaal is filled up by a people who care nothing for the world, who never read a newspaper, and whose one idea, beyond their own concerns, is hatred of the English. They are a proud, stubborn race, free, and resolute to remain free. They are strict Calvinists, ignorant, obstinate, and bigoted, not unlike Scotch farmers were about two hundred years ago.

NOT A NON-JUDICIAL DAY.—The United States Circuit Court were in session to-day, Washington's birthday. Although the day is made a legal holiday by the State law it is not so by the United States laws. In fact, it is stated by United States law officers that the Revised Statutes of the United States recognize no legal holidays, or non-judicial days, Sundays not excepted, except such days as are so designated by the President by proclamation, such as Thanksgiving day.—S. F. Bulletin.

A SPY.—As supposed at the time, it appears that James E. Harvey posted the leaders of the Rebellion, at its commencement around Fort Sumter, of the movements of the Government, and yet so well did he cover his tracks, Lincoln appointed him Minister to Portugal. So says the official records.

FREE TRADE.—A few days since a number of leading Democrats in the East met and decided to organize the party and at once make the issue "Free Trade," and thus fight it out in 1884. That will be as good a thing as the Republicans want to combat. Why, even Georgia would vote against it. It is a rotten plank.

"ARKANSAW."—The Arkansas Senate has adopted a joint resolution that Arkansas shall hereafter be pronounced Arkansaw. That is the way Webster calls it.

Official statistics show that Australia has supplied England during the last five years with $131,738,000 in gold coin and bullion.

This has been the coldest Winter New Orleans has known for 47 years.

AT LAST.—Now that the session is drawing to a close, the members of the Legislature are getting to work. The Senate has passed a Legislative Apportionment bill, and a Revenue Act; and the Assembly an Election law, but whether these laws will pass both branches is a question to be decided by time. As they have passed but few bills, it is a consolation to know they have done no great harm.

On the 10th inst. the following order was issued by the Postoffice Department:

"The orders of July 13, 1880, and September 24, 1880, excluding from the mails all card matter except 'postal cards' furnished by the Department, are hereby so modified as to permit the sending by mail printed cards at third-class rates; but all cards other than postal cards furnished by this Department containing any writing except the address shall be charged with letter postage."

Washington's Birthday was celebrated at Richmond, Va., on Tuesday, by a military parade—the first since 1861. Such neglect is not creditable to the "Mother of Presidents."

The Pennsylvania Legislature has at last elected a United States Senator—John J. Mitchell, a member of the present House, and an anti-Cameron Republican.

JOB PRINTING.—Job printing of the finest description will be furnished at this office at Sacramento prices.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

MORE SHOOTING.—Bodie again steps to the front as the center of lawlessness; but, fortunately for the roughs, there is no occasion for the people to inflict punishment upon the participants. So long as that class confine their fights within their own circle, the good people may, possibly, allow the law to take its course. We say possibly; but it might be that the taxpayers would be unwilling to subject themselves to taxation to try a man to decide whether he killed another or not, when it is well-known that he did. While there is a doubt as to the lynching of a desperado who kills his kind, there is a certainty—as true as the noonday sun, that the killing of a good citizen—premeditated or from a chance shot of a rough, will result in the summary hanging of the offender or offenders. It may as well be understood that this is a reflex of the determination of the good people and taxpayers of Mono county; that each section has the moral support of the others, and, in cases of emergencies will have the physical.

BODIE RAILROAD.—Articles of Incorporation of the Bodie Railway and Lumber Company have been filed in the office of the Secretary of State. Place of Business, San Francisco; Directors, H. M Yerrington, A. J. Ralston, R. M. Graves, W. S. Wood, W. Willis, J. B. Low, J. M. Quay; capital, $1,000,000. The road is to bring wood from the vicinity of Mono Lake for the Bodie market.

CLEANING UP.—The plasterers having finished their work on the new Court House, the rubbish has been fired out of the building and the carpenters and painters are finishing up their work. In the meantime the floors and windows are being cleaned, and as soon as a room is finished it is locked up, preparatory to the delivery of the building to the county on the 15th of March.

DANCING ACADEMY.—Captain G. L. Porter, of Bodie, has been prevailed upon to open a dancing school here, and is meeting with great success—having a large class and giving general satisfaction. He gives three lessons a week, which allows the young folks all the dancing required to keep them in good health.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.—After Sunday school to morrow afternoon there will be a meeting of the friends of the School to devise ways and means to increase its efficiency. It is proposed to have a series of socials to raise funds for the purchase of a good library, etc. All friends of the School and of the youth of our town are invited to attend.

SPRING WEATHER.—This week the weather has been Spring-like, and after 10 o'clock in the morning fires have been uncomfortable, and open doors and windows has been the order of the day. On Sunday last the birds put in an appearance—a harbinger of Spring.

AN AFFRAY.—On Tuesday evening last, at Bodie, a row occurred over a game of cards, in which Wm. Degan, Wm. Cunningham, Daniel Weir, Patrick Desmond and Andrew Donahue participated. After interchanging a number of shots, it was found that one had dangerously wounded the latter.

ANTELOPE ROUTE.—The U. S. Stage Co. will soon put on a line between Bridgeport and Carson City. Passengers from here will arrive at Carson the same day in time for the trains.

THE DAY.—The anniversary of Washington's Birth passed off quietly in town; the Courts and schools were closed, and the flag was displayed from the staff on the new Court House.

PERSONAL.—Yesterday we were favored with a visit from our old-time friend, Judge Poe, of Antelope Valley. Although 74 years of age, yet "Uncle" John looks 20 years younger.

THE COUNT.—On the 17th inst., there ought to have been in the County Treasury the sum of $42,805 46, and the count showed there was LIGHT.—Real estate and mining tranfers have been extraordinary light this month, only 25 deeds of the former and 11 of the latter having been recorded.

AMONG US.—Yesterday the furniture and library of John A. McQuaid arrived from Bodie, and were placed in his intended office in the new Court House.

WILL MEET.—The Board of Supervisors will hold an adjourned meeting on Monday next.

BONDS.—The Board of Supervisors are after several of the county officers for additional bonds.

SUPERIOR COURT.—Department No. 1, Hon. R. M. Briggs, Judge, presiding, will open on next Monday week.

DELINQUENT TAXES.—On Monday next Sheriff Taylor will commence the sale of delinquent tax property.

Transfers of Real Estate.

The following deeds have been recorded in the County Recorder's office:

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.—The March number of this standard American monthly is at hand, and a very interesting number it is; but, we may ask, when did the Harper Brothers ever issue a number that was not interesting? Its March contents are: An illustrated article on Bedford Park, near London; The University of Lieden, illustrated; The Arran Islands, at the entrance of Galway Bay, with illustrations; S. B. Parson, who has a Paradise of a place at Flushing, N. Y., contributes an interesting article on the Possibilities of Horticulture, with illustrations; A Glimpse of an Old Dutch Town—Albany, N. Y., in 1696, illustrated; Richard Henry Stoddard, a poem; The Grave-Digger, illus.; A Nation in a Nutshell, an illustrated article on life and scenes in Washington; Anne, a novel; The French Republic; Hands Off, a story; A Talk on Dress; A Helpmeet for Him, a story; The Family Life of the Turks; A Laodicean, Book the First—George Somerset; Editor's Easy Chair; Editor's Literary Record; Editor's Historical Record; Editor's Drawer, always an entertaining portion o the magazine. Harper & Brothers, N. Y.

THE CALIFORNIAN.—The Californian for March will be read with interest and pleasure. J. V. Cheney contribute '49 and '50, Chap. I, II, III, IV., which will interest Pioneers. Alexander Del Mar gives us A New California; Interoceanic Communication by Wm Lawrence Merry; A Night of Storm, a poem by Ina D. Coolbrith; A Strange Confession, Chap. XV, XVI, by W. C. Morrow; Doubting and Working, by J. Royce; One Stormy Night, by Julia H. S. Bugeia; An Old Story, a poem, by Carlotta Perry; A Literary Shrine, by Nathan W. Moore; In the Skyland Omnibus, by Mary H. Field; Uncle Sam and the Western Farmer, a plea in favor of Free Trade, by Leigh Mann; The Olive Tree, by James I. Bleasdale, D. D.; Learned by the Way, by James Berry Bensel; The Present House of Stuart, by Edward Kirkpatrick; The Rival Cities, Boston and New York, by W. S. Kennedy; Note Book, Science and Industry, Outcroppings, etc.—a table of contents worthy of California's favorite magazine. California Publishing Co., San Francisco

THE SOUTH'S UNFORTUNATE SITUATION.—The political situation of the South is most unfortunate, considered with relation to her party affiliations. Not that she is wrong in remaining in opposition to the Republican party, constituted and organized as it has been and is, but because the Democratic party, led as it is; dictated to as it has been, is simply no party at all. And so it is that all over the South the question is being asked, What shall or can be done to place the South in the line of political progress as an integral part of the Union? We are content here to rest the inquiry with the single suggestion that there will be no improvement or change until the statesmen of the South, the men of intelligence, learning and experience, who are the peers of any in the land, resolve to think for themselves again, and that they will not any longer take their political principles, or rather their party principles, at second hand.—New Orleans Times (Dem.)

The product of Bessemer steel in the United States last year was 1,203,200 tons, an increase of 50 per cent. over the previous year. It is only a few years ago that this enterprise was introduced into the United States. Eight years ago the product was only 120,000 tons. During the present year there will be a fair increase over last year, as several new establishments will commence work for the first time. The production of steel rails in this country last year was 917,600 tons, a gain of 230,000 tons over 1879.

Senator Dennis, of Maryland, is supported by terrapins. He has twelve acres in a pond that is fed by salt-water. This is the larfiest terrapin farm in the world, and yields a large income. It is said that over 12,000 "counts" have been sold from it in a year. A "count" is a terrapin over seven inches long. These are sold at about $1 each. There are several terrapin farms in Maryland, but the principal terrapinner is Senator Dennis.

The Supreme Court of the United States, in a Virginia bond case, has rendered an important decision on the question of taxing State bonds. The effect of the decision is that a State cannot tax its own bonds, on the grounds that such a tax impairs the obligation of a contract.

The private library of Alexander H. Stephens is said to have cost about $25,000, and contains about four thousand volumes. It is especially full on potitical subjects, and contains nearly everything of value relating to the rebellion.

During December 16 steamers and 203 sailing vessels were lost.

The engineers and sub-contractors on the Nevada and Oregon Railroad, near Reno, have stopped work on account of failing to receive their pay. This does not look encouraging for the extension of the road to Bridgeport and Bodie.

Application to Purchase Timber Land.

UNITED STATES LAND OFFICE,
Bodie, Cal., February 12, 1881.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT whereas Angus Cameron, a citizen of the United States, over the age of twenty-one years, has made application under the Act of Congress entitled "An Act for the sale of timber lands in the States of California, Oregon, Nevada and in Washington Territory," approved June 3, 1878, to purchase at this office N E ¼ of S W ¼ of section 11, Township 4, North Range 25, East, M. D. M., containing 40 acres, claiming said land to be valuable chiefly for its timber. And the said applicant having made and filed in this office the affidavit as to the character of said land as required by said Act.

Creosote for Bronchitis and Catarrh.

When going from Switzerland to Italy via Mont Cenis, some years ago, the writer contracted a sudden severe cold, which, in the chill air of Turin, soon brought on a severe attack of bronchitis. We hastened over to the genial air of Genoa, but afforded little relief, and the advice of Dr. Paccioti, Professor in the noted Italian Medical College there, was called in. He prescribed a very simple remedy, which was at once effective, as it has been with many others to whom we have since recommended it. Put into a pint or large bottle about three gills of water, and add two drops of good wood creosote. Shake very thoroughly, take a mouthful, gargling it awhile in the throat, and swallow it. Repeat this frequently, so as to use up the mixture in the first 25 hours, always shaking well before taking. After the first day use three drops of creosote and the same amount of water during 24 hours, so long as it is needed. The same mixture has often proved very useful in catarrh. In this case, a handful or two of the well shaken creosote and water is snuffed up through the nostrils until it reaches the throat and is spit out. A tablespoonful or more is also gargled in the throat and swallowed. As catarrh is an inflammation of the nasal passages, accompanied with a mucus deposit, the creosote which is largely carbolic acid, would seem to be useful here just as dilute carbolic acid is effective in cleansing any putrid sores. Catarrh is the result of weakness, and is promoted by a cold. A toning up of the system and any simple remedy like the above is effective, unless the catarrh is severe and of long continuance, as to have permanently disorganized the nasal cavities. It is folly to spend money for the much advertised catarrh remedies which are usually the sheerest medical quackery. —American Agriculturist.

A correspondent of one of our exchanges writes in regard to allowing leaves to remain on grass:

"Leaves should be removed from grass and as soon as the warm days of Spring begin. It may not do any harm for them to remain on the ground during the Winter (saving the looks) though I doubt if there is any advantage even in that. A single leaf, lying flat and close to the ground, will kill the grass as far as the leaf extends. I liberated myself soundly last season for carelessly allowing the leaves to remain longer than they ought on a certain part of my grass lot; the consequence was that when the leaves were removed, the soil was as bare of grass as though a spire had never grown there, while all around the grass was rank and luxuriant. Leaves may enrich the soil, but they certainly kill the grass, for the time being at any rate.

The following is said to be an effectual remedy against lice on fowls: "Wash the roosts with kerosene oil; also put a little under the wings of the fowls, and upon the tops of their heads. Mix with their warm food in the morning a little refined powdered sulphur. It might be well to wash the roosts more than once, as the hens will carry off a good deal of the kerosene on their feathers, and it will be as effective on the latter as in any other application. Kerosene oil will destroy all kinds of parasites, and sulphur is also a good thing for fowls in this as in other respects.

There is no more refreshing drink in cases of fever than weak green tea, with lemon juice added, instead of milk. It may be taken either cold or hot, but the latter is preferable.

A good nest for hens is made by sawing a hole in the side of a barrel, putting hay in, and covering the top or head. Such a nest is easily removed, and cleaned, and "biddy" likes it.

Grafting wax may be made by melting together four pounds of common rosin, two of beeswax and one of tallow. If to be used in cool weather, add a quarter of a pound of more tallow or a little linseed oil.

The farmer should patronize home industry and thus save cost of transportation. That is, he should live mainly on the produce of his farm.

English sparows were imported to destroy worms, and now there is a general desire to have something imported that will destroy the sparrows.

Ice dealers are happy over a solid North.

JUST OUT!

HOOD'S GREAT BOOK OF THE WAR.

ADVANCE AND RETREAT;

Personal Experiences in the United States and Confederate States Armies.

BY GENERAL J. B. HOOD,

Late Lieutenant-General Confederate States Army.

Published for the

HOOD ORPHAN MEMORIAL FUND,

BY

GEN. G. T. BEAUREGARD.

New Orleans, 1880.

THE ENTIRE PROCEEDS ARISING FROM the sale of this work are devoted to the Hood Orphan Memorial Fund which is invested in U. S. Registered Bonds for the nurture, care, support and education of the ten infants deprived of their parents last Summer at New Orleans, the melancholy incidents of which sad bereavement are still fresh in the public mind.

The book is an elegant octavo, containing 360 pages, with a fine photograph likeness and a fine steel engraving, made expressly for this work, four large maps of battle fields, bound in handsome gray English cloth, at $3; or in a fine sheep binding, with marble edge, $4 50; in half-bound morocco, library style, $4, or in best Levant Turkey morocco, full gilt sides and edges, $5.

On the receipt from any person remitting by mail or express, of the amount in a registered letter, or by postal order, bank draft or check, a copy will be immediately sent free of postage, registered as second-class matter.

The volume is published in the best style of typography, on elegan paper, with illustrations executed as highest specimens of art.

The author, the subject, the purpose, all alike render it worthy a place in every library, on every desk, or upon the book shelf of every house in the country.

Agents wanted in every town and county in the United States, and a preference will be given to honorably discharged veterans from the army.

To the ladies, who feel a desire to express their sympathy with the "Hood Orphan Memorial Fund," the sale of this book among their circle of friends will afford an excellent way of contributing substantial aid to so deserving a cause.
